Introduction

The Malaysian Water Association Planning & Design Guidelines for Water Supply Systems – Best Practices Handbook (PDGWSS-BPH) serves as a useful reference material for water engineers and sub-professionals both in the public and private sectors when designing water supply systems. A total of 28 sections are included in this latest edition comprised of old and new topics that are reviewed and/or added by the MWA Technical Committee. This manual guide is an improved version of the MWA Design Guidelines for Water Supply Systems published in 1994, which was an adaptation of the JKR Design Criteria and Standards for Water Supply Systems in the late 80s by the Water Supply Branch, Public Works Department.
